Speakers: Identifying African-American Heritage Resources Statewide project members: Bob Harris, committee founder; Patty Dean; Ken Robison; Alan Thompson
Hear of intriguing stories uncovered in the current research into African-American communities in territorial Montana and the challenges and potential for uncovering more Black history through the project "Identifying African American Heritage Resources Statewide."

Blackfeet History (1 credit) Depot Room

The Warrior Mentalité and Life on the Blackfoot Reservation in Montana, 1870s–1919

Speaker: Rodger Henderson, Associate Professor of History, Pennsylvania State University-Fayette

What happened to Blackfoot warriors, hunters, raiders, and chiefs in the aftermath of American defeat of Blackfoot people? This is an account of social and cultural changes among Blackfoot people due to the end of intertribal warfare, including a longer view of change and continuity from the 1750s to 1880s, and specifics on Blackfoot participation in sham battles, the Sun Dance, Indian police, and World War I.

History of the Four Persons Blackfeet Agency, 1868–1876

Speaker: Nancy Thornton, President, Friends of Old Agency on the Teton, Inc.

Learn the history of the second Blackfeet Agency, which provided annuity goods, supplies, medical care, and schools, as well as smallpox, liquor, and corruption. The site still bears signs of a burial ground, building foundations, wagon roads, a travois trail, and period artifacts in the surrounding fields.

Real Voices on Notable Events of the Not-so-distant Past (1 credit)

Oriental Room Ltd. C

1964 Montana Centennial Train

Speaker: Betty Babcock, former First Lady

The former First Lady shares her unique insights into the rip-roaring Territorial Centennial Train—one of the most colorful ways Montanans have celebrated their state's history and heritage—which ran from Billings to the New York World's Fair.

Ecclesiastes Fulfilled: A Time for Change

Speakers: Judge Gordon Bennett, retired district judge and assistant attorney general; Duke Crowley, retired UM Law School professor

Bennett and Crowley discuss the importance of the 1972 Constitution and the hardball politics involved in transforming Montana's arcane system of state government from 100-plus state agencies/bureaus into our present system.

■ 10:15 a.m. – 11:30 a.m. Plenary Session

Jerks and Gems in Montana History (1 credit)

Empire Builder and Western Star Room

William F. Meyer: The Father of Carbon County?

Speaker: Jon Axline, historian, Montana Department of Transportation
Meet the Red Lodge statesman, lawyer, entrepreneur, and bank president who spearheaded the effort to create Carbon County in 1895; and not ten years later was exposed for his penchant for young women and hard liquor.

Singing the Praises of Hiram Knowles

Speaker: Lyndel Meikle, National Park Ranger, Grant-Kohrs Ranch
Hear more about the "voice of reason" during the acrimonious debate over the state's first constitution. One of the best features of Montana's "jerks" is that they are constantly countered by the state's "gems."

■ 11:45 a.m. – 12:45 p.m. Luncheon and Farewell Montana Preservation Alliance Awards Luncheon

Empire Builder and Western Star Rooms

Join preservationists from across the state to celebrate Montana's young Main Street Program, the Governor's Council on Historic & Cultural Properties, our growing network of Preserve America communities, and MPA's 20th anniversary. Also honor MPA's 2007 Montana Preservation Excellence Award winners. Proudly sponsored by the Montana Preservation Alliance, the Montana Historical Society, the Montana History Foundation, and the National Park Service Heritage Partnerships Program.

Farewell Address

Speaker: Richard Sims, MHS Director

■ 1:00 p.m. – 4:30 p.m. Tours

Meet in the Ballroom Foyer

Grave Excursions (3 credits)

Step aboard a comfortable coach for an afternoon of “grave excursions”—rain or shine—with historian Ellen Baumler. Visit the sites of seven of Helena’s historic cemeteries, learn where the first burial grounds were, which cemetery is Helena’s oldest, and visit the tombstones of some of Helena’s most illustrious, notorious, and interesting characters. Discover why many early Helena pioneers were buried twice, and sometimes three times. Stops include the site of the 1865 mining camp cemetery, Montana’s oldest active Jewish cemetery, the simple Benton Avenue pioneer burial ground, and much more.

Maximum 40 people.

Trident, Montana: Company Town and Cement Plant Tour (3 credits)

Three Forks historian, Patrick Finnegan, will introduce us to the company town of Trident, Montana through a slide presentation and a tour of the cement plant provided by Holcim, Inc., the most recent operator of the plant that has operated continuously since 1908. Holcim requires visitors to wear sturdy closed-toed shoes, full length pants, and shirts. Holcim will supply hard hats and safety glasses.

Maximum 40 people.
